It was with this group of, soon to be step families, early into step families, and full into the blended family we became aware of the need for small groups made up of stepfamilies. This complex family dynamic has shown to be better understood by those walking a similar path. A difficult path but with God can be navigated. As a father, do you wish your son will grow to be a man of courage, character, conviction and consequence? Do you wish there was a community of men running alongside you, in the same season, so you didn't have to figure it all out on your own?

Then this group might be for you. We are kicking off a brand new small group focused on being intentional fathers, together. The group is open not only to fathers, but grandfathers, uncles, or even mentors, who desire to intentionally invest in a young man in their life, aged 12-18. God has given you a unique role and sphere of influence and we want to help equip you with confidence as you aim to raise sons of purpose.

Together, we will explore the transformative power of intentional fatherhood and discover how to shape the next generation of purposeful, confident, and resilient men. We'll discuss how to raise sons who know what they believe, who they are, and what they stand for.

You'll leave this group not only encouraged, but you will also develop a vision and strategy that you can apply as you help your own son navigate the challenges of growing up and becoming men of courage, character, conviction and consequence. We hope you will join us.

Type: Men

Day: Sunday

Time: 7:00pm - 8:30pm

Location: Kemah Village

Anthony and Darren go to the East 96 campus

Anthony: I'm single, own a small business, coach my niece's U12 soccer team, & serve as a technical producer on the tech arts team. I know, it sounds fancy like I'm in charge of something. But really I just wear a headset and work alongside a talented team that runs the lights, audio, and TV screens that make our services so engaging and slick. I enjoy reading and movies as well as woodworking/furniture building as far as hobbies go. My pet is a 5yr old cockatiel. Coming out of an awesome men's group for the past 2yrs certainly helped me to see the tremendous value in a group of men coming together to study God's word, both to know Him more fully and also to bring others closer to Him, and walk with one another in support through life's challenges & triumphs.

I am Darren Whitmarsh and have been a member of CCCC for 15 or so years. I have led Celebrate Recovery here at CCCC for several years and have been clean and sober for 13 years. I presently lead and serve on the setup/teardown team at E96. I have a beautifully blended family with a wife of 10 years and two daughters, 25 and 27 years. Anthony and I are looking forward to facilitating a group of men this fall and growing with them in our relationship with Christ.
